

FIVE-C Network Terms and Conditions

This page (together with all documents or web links referred to on it) sets out the terms and conditions governing your access to this website. These terms apply to site visitors and registered Network members. Please read these terms of use carefully before you start to use the site. By entering our site, you accept these terms of use and agree always to act in accordance with them. If you do not agree to these terms of use, please do not use this website.

About us

The FIVE-C Network is a research and knowledge exchange network provided by the University of Salford (‘the University’). It focuses on accelerating the transition towards a circular economy in five key sectors: Digital, Health, Construction, Fashion & Textiles, and Renewable Energy.

The webpage of the FIVE-C Network is provided by the University and is hosted on secure UK-based servers.

Disclaimer

Whilst every care has been taken in preparing the information published on this website, to the extent permitted by law, the University provides this website and its contents on an “as is” basis and makes no representation or warranty of any kind regarding this website or any information, content, products or services on it.

The University does not warrant that the information accessible via this website is accurate, complete, or current. In no circumstances, to the extent permitted by law, shall the University or any of its officers or employees be liable for any loss, additional costs, or damage (howsoever arising) suffered as a result of any use of this website or its contents.

The University reserves the right to remove or alter content or take down this website at any time without notice. Some content on this website is available to registered FIVE-C Network members only.

Acceptable use of this website

You may use this website for any lawful purposes. You must not use this website, knowingly or otherwise, for purposes which are unlawful, harmful, or disruptive. Your use of this website must not result in the transmission of viruses, malware, or any other harmful code.

Links to third-party information

This website may include links to third-party websites. These links are provided for information only and do not signify that the University endorses such websites or their content. The University accepts no responsibility for any loss or damage suffered as a result of using third-party websites.

Linking to this website

You may not create a link to our homepage without prior written permission. Please contact the FIVE-C Network Manager to seek permission.

Accessibility

The University is committed to making this website as accessible as possible in line with W3C recommendations. Any problems encountered with accessing material on this site should be reported to the FIVE-C Network Manager.

Copyright

All website content, unless explicitly stated otherwise, is copyright of the University and may not be reproduced without the University's prior permission in writing.

By accessing these web pages, you agree that any downloading of content is for personal, non-commercial reference only.

No part of this website may be reproduced or transmitted in any form or by any means without prior consent. For any queries about re-use of content from this website, please contact the FIVE-C Network Manager.

Privacy and Data Protection

Website visitors are not required to provide personal information unless they choose to become a member of the FIVE-C Network. In this instance, members will be required to agree to the separate Membership Terms and Conditions.

The FIVE-C Network has produced a Privacy Policy which sets out how members' data is gathered, used, stored, and shared, including data retention periods and GDPR rights.

Freedom of Information Act

The University is committed to the principles of freedom of information. Details of the University's Freedom of Information Policy and Publication Scheme can be found on the University's FOI webpages.

Logs

The University maintains logs of its servers' activities. These include IP addresses of devices accessing the website. Logs are used to support essential maintenance and analyse usage. Server logs are retained for a limited period and then securely overwritten.

Cookies

A cookie is a small text file which helps your web browser navigate through a website. Cookies may be used on this site to support functionality, improve user experience, and monitor usage.

The site may use the following cookies:

Session cookies – to keep you logged in and remember preferences

Security cookies – to protect accounts and data
